

Help author Donald Reichardt launch his new book. Join us for happy hour at the Wild Hope Art Gallery Sept. 13, 5-7 p.m.

"I should have been smart enough to know my professional innocence was doomed. Theodore Meyers was the reason. The charismatic chief executive left ominous signs of a conniving nature right and left in his wake."

Jerry Brusca faces a dilemma. The fast-track golden boy of a New York enterprise must decide whether or not to condone a deception

 Friend on Facebook

 Follow on Twitter

 Forward to a Friend

Wild
HOPE
ART GALLERY

8470 Holcomb Bridge Road
Suite 120,
Alpharetta, GA 30022
(678) 580-0493.

Artist Diane Buffington opened Wild Hope dedicated to the premise that life is better when ideas, thoughts and memories are enhanced with original art. Wild Hope has sponsored a number of special events, including a previous book signing by Reichardt and co-author Joyce Os car. Donald's appearance will mark his third art gallery signing.

Diane Buffington
at diane@wildhopeartgallery.com.
www.wildhopeartgallery.com